

Budding Innovation (BI) is a Singapore headquartered Venture & Business Builder, and supports through its consulting service corporations to develop and implement innovative in-market solutions. We work to understand, forecast and define the future impact of trends. We use these insights to define bespoke interventions, and develop fitting solutions that enable companies to deliver winning innovations and future-proofed roadmaps.

Our vision is that by operating at the intersection of large multinationals and start-ups, we build more productive and transformative innovations, and foster an ecosystem that leverages the best in Open Innovation approaches to deliver the most exciting vision of the future. Leading companies looking to co-create their future benefit the most from us, no matter how their ambition to innovate is fueled. Long-term success is rooted in a creative yet applied understanding of a lighthouse vision, in unison with the Brand Values and Corporate Culture. We are here to collaborate and make that happen.

Founded in 2015, and bringing together decades of DeepTech Open Innovation experience, BI works with dozens of large global multinational corporations. We have extensive cross-industry experience and deep future trends insights in the environmental and social sustainability area.

BI advocates that "Health is Wealth", and specializes in Preventative Health and Wellbeing. Spanning from nutrition & care, to physical and mental wellbeing, all while being connected to environmental and social sustainability. Across consumer goods, devices and digital services.
